WELCOME B. MURPHY NATIONAL ANTHEM SINGER

Mr. B. (Bernette) Murphy was born and raised in Paterson, New Jersey where at a very early age he started singing Gospel music. Under the tutelage of Professor William Hardy, B. was involved and recorded with such notable Gospel artists as: Clara Ward, Alex Bradford, Rev. Lawrence Roberts and the Angelic Choir of Nutley, New Jersey. At the age of 14, he was the Director of The Heritage Choir, which later became the Golden Voices Gospel Ensemble. He directed this choir until 1970.

In 1972, after returning from military service, B. started singing with R & B recording artists: The Chocolate Syrup, recording for Mainstream Records in New York City, where he also worked with such talents as: Bill Withers, Sarah Vaughn, and the Isley Brothers. In 1975, B. started singing with The Platters, a group noted for such hits as: The Great Pretender, My Prayer and many others. B. sang with the Platters until 1978, when he relocated to Utah.

In 1978, B. moved to Provo, Utah, where he started a solo singing career, working with The Osmonds. In 1980, he took a hiatus from the professional music scene to take on the responsibilities of being a single parent, and moved to Salt Lake City where he quickly became reunited with Gospel music, and started singing and directing choirs again in local churches.

B. has taught and directed several different choirs along the Wasatch front, and has been a crowd favorite in Utah, often singing at Utah Jazz games and other major events. From 2001 to 2010, he was a featured director of "Messiah – A Community Celebration" that was presented annually at the Grand Theater in Salt Lake City.

B. was honored as the 2008 Performing Artist of the Year in Salt Lake City by Utah's Governor Jon Huntsman, joining such distinguished winners as: Kurt Bestor, and Gerald Ottley.

B. recently returned to Utah after spending over 14 years in the Washington DC area where he was the Senior National Sales Manager, ultimately retiring from Fern Exposition & Event Services at the end of 2024. He is reunited with and directing the Calvary Baptist Church Men of Praise and he also assists with the Music Ministry Team for the church.
